Improve security. Increase profits. HPE Support Services from Just Right IT

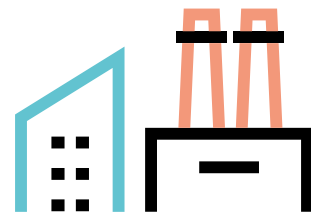

Having the best IT solutions gives you a valuable head-start but product warranties are not enough. Smart, long-term IT support can save your business.

Over 80% of SMBs have experienced downtime in the past

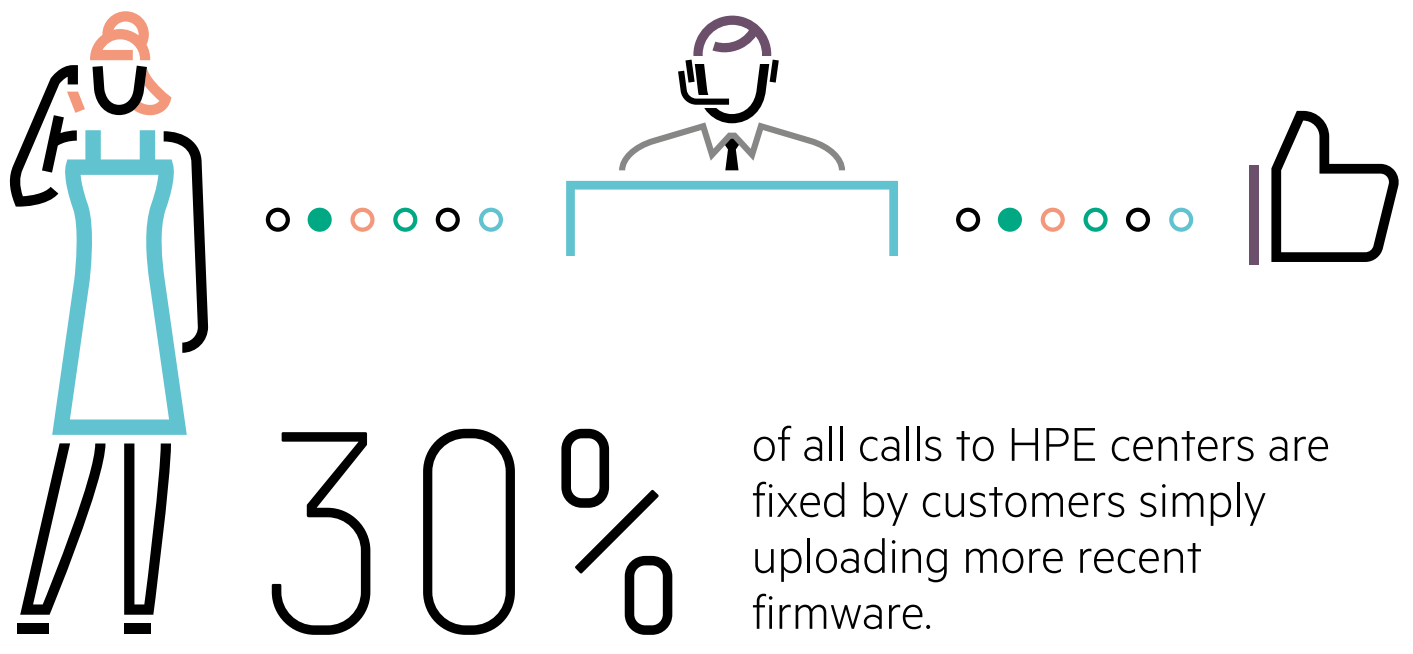

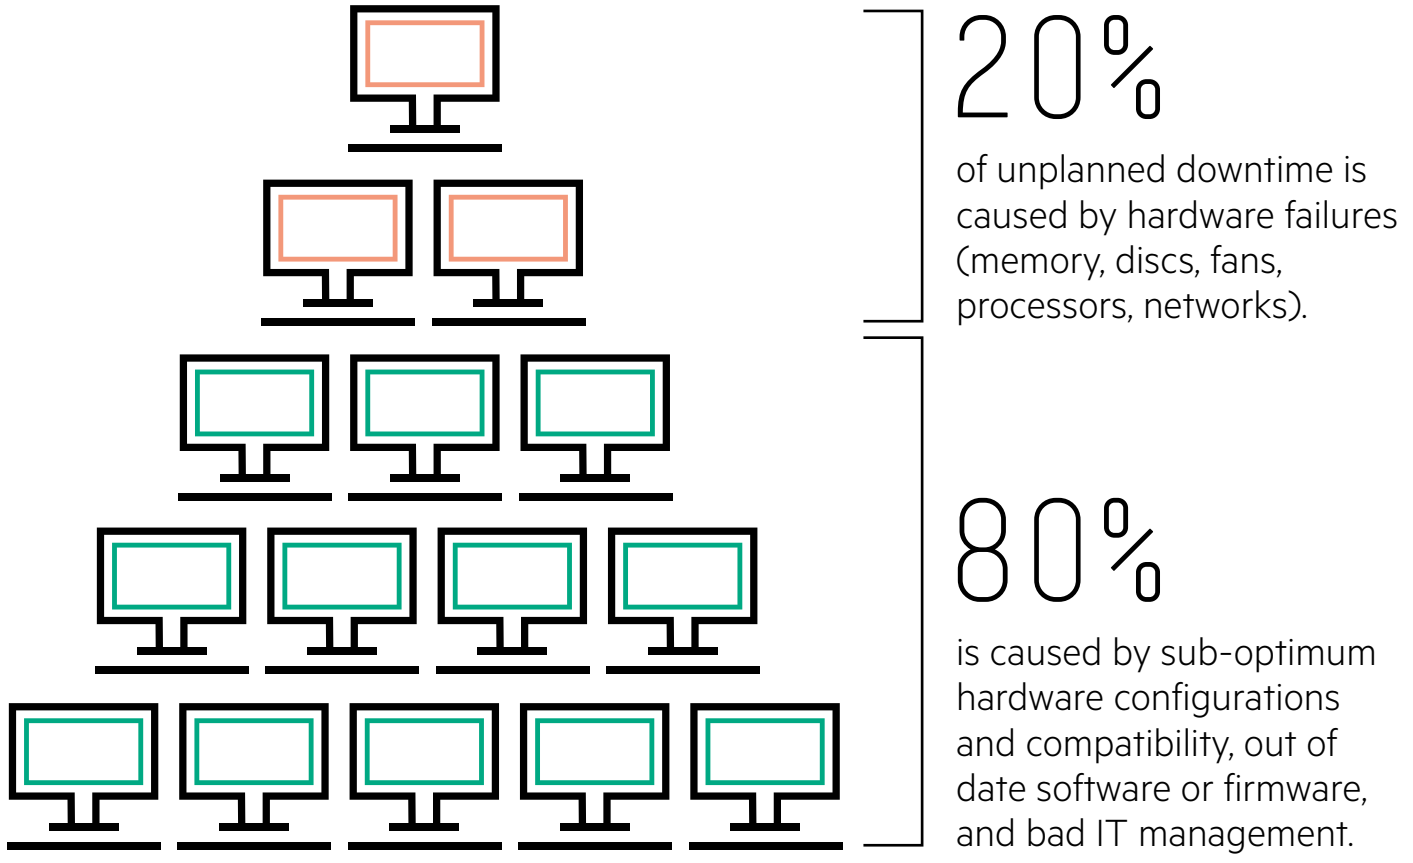

The estimated cost of downtime ranges from $8,220/hour to $25,600/hour²

61% of SMBs say that the typical fix for mission-critical applications needs to be 4 hours or less³

However, the biggest cause of downtime may not be what you think. It is not all about fighting external threats. The people and processes inside your business can be a bigger danger to your bottom line.

Keeping your business up and running is not just about keeping out the bad guys. The right support is now an essential part of helping your IT run efficiently—allowing you to be more productive, get products to market more quickly, and grow your business.

HPE Support Services offer forward-thinking solutions. Stop hardware failures before they can occur by keeping your IT up-to-date and well-managed; get fast, round-the-clock support for when a crisis does occur.
